

Spinny's Garage Is Destroyed at Port Ewen Today

Hasty Work by Port Ewen, Kingston Firemen Saves Restaurant—Legion Party Tonight Loss at $2,000

Origin of Fire Unknown—Water Pumped from Tucker's Pond

But for the quick response and efficient work of the Port Ewen fire department this afternoon there would have been no American Legion birthday party this evening, for at 12:50 o'clock fire was discovered pouring out of the large garage in the rear of Spinny's on Broadway, that village.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and the large pumper from the Central Fire Station responded to a call for assistance.

Fire loss was estimated at $2,000.

The garage, a one-story frame structure, 50 by 75 feet, was a mass of flames within a few minutes after the fire was discovered. It was used to house the buses of the Port Ewen bus line. All buses were saved.

Dense Smoke.

The fire, origin unknown, caused a dense heavy smoke which shot high in the air and was plainly visible from this city. Word soon spread that Spinny's was on fire and many from Kingston motored over to the scene of the fire.

The Port Ewen department has a pumper and soon a stream was pouring on the flames from a line of hose laid to Tucker's pond, just below the hill from Spinny's, and when the Kingston pumper arrived it also was used to pump a stream of water on the fire.

Spinny's restaurant was filled with dense, black smoke and all of the doors and windows were thrown wide open to clear the air.

Legion Party Tonight.

"Will the fire interfere with the Legion birthday party tonight?" Spinny was asked when he was seen busily throwing open the windows in the big restaurant.

"Certainly not," replied Spinny, "and the boys will find everything set and ready for a big time when they begin to pop in this evening."

Wednesday evening the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will meet in the building.

Five Actions Settled by Court

Four actions in Supreme Court were announced settled, on the call of the calendar this morning and later after a short recess a fifth was settled. This concluded the day's work as there was no other case ready. Court then recessed until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock to which time the jurors were excused.

In addition to the five cases which were disposed by settlements there was also judgment directed for plaintiff in No. 22 and the defendant's answer was stricken out by the court. This was an action brought by Aaron Duchsbaum Company against James E. Joseph, an action on guaranty. Cleon B. Murray for plaintiff.

No. 112, an action brought by Harold Osterhout against Edward Albert and another on contract for work and labor and services was settled after Justice Bergan held a short recess and the matter was discussed with the court and attorneys. David W. Corwin for plaintiff and Arthur B. Ewig for defendant. The case had been announced as ready for trial on the calendar call. Terms of settlement were stipulated by the parties.

Among the cases announced settled on the call of the calendar were:

No. 149, a separate action brought by Russell P. Smith against Marion J. Smith, Jules Ewig for plaintiff and Roscoe V. Elsworth for defendant.

No. 108, Nellie A. Tunney against Frances C. Dandom, action for money loaned. A. J. Cook for plaintiff and Walter J. Miller for defendant.

Two actions brought by Louis and Ella Braunstein against Sherman Asarian, actions for loss of service and for personal injuries, were set down for Wednesday morning. Joseph Avis, who appeared for the plaintiffs, was instructed by the court to notify his opponents and if the cases are not ready on the part of defendant Wednesday morning Mr. Avis will take an inquest under the direction of the court.

The day calendar for Wednesday morning is:

Nos. 187 and 188, 91, 104, 191, 205, 208, 210, 211, 214, 217, 221, 223.

Hitler Enters Vienna

This picture, telephoned from Vienna to London and radioed from London to New York, shows Chancellor Adolf Hitler standing in his car in Vienna acknowledging the arms upraised in Nazi salute to him. This was the climax to perhaps the most significant event in European history since the World War—the entrance of the Fuehrer into Vienna, marking the completion of the Nazi annexation of Austria as part of the German Third Reich.

Aldermen Will Hold Special Session on Wednesday, 7:30 P.M.

Plan to Aid "Small Business" Probed In Tax Rate Query

Washington, March 15 (AP)—Senate Finance Committee members considered informally today a proposal to aid "Small Business" by downward adjustment of rates in the administration tax bill.

Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) indicated an attempt might be made to change house-approved rates of 12 1/2 to 16 per cent tax on firms showing a net profit of $25,000 a year.

From Senator Bailey (D-N.C.) came a suggestion that the committee might probably study the imposition of a gross income tax, or a levy on capital investment, in an effort to reach large corporations which might escape heavy taxes under the present bill.

Sentiment appeared to be solidifying in the committee for outright repeal of the undistributed surplus tax, modified by the house.

Members said, however, they should be forced to find additional revenue. Rowell McGill, under-secretary of the treasury, told them the bill was $22,000,000 short of needed revenue because the house killed the closely-held corporations tax.

The Senate set 2 p. m. (EST) for a test vote on the Government Reorganization bill.

The issue was an amendment by Senator Walsh (D-Mass.) to preserve the three-man Civil Service Commission. The bill as drafted would replace the commission with a single administrator, appointed by the president for 15 years.

New Longshoremen's Rift

San Pedro, Calif., March 15 (AP)—Los Angeles Harbor's newest labor dispute, throwing 3,000 longshoremen out of work, threatened today to affect all Pacific coast shipping.

Senate Favors Wicks' Retirement Bill

Albany, March 15 (Special)—Senate approval has been given to the bill of Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Republican, of Kingston, amending the civil service law, requiring 75 per cent, instead of a majority, of any local pension system to elect to become members of the State Employees' Retirement System.

Another bill sponsored by Senator Wicks which has also been passed by the Senate, amends the village law by requiring that villages of the first class shall establish police departments with police chiefs, captains, lieutenants, sergeants and patrolmen as may be needed, under state civil service rules. These provisions, according to the measure, are permissive for other villages upon referendum and all members now holding office in such departments, would continue in their present posts.

These two bills now go to the Assembly for concurrent action.

The bill of Assemblyman J. Edward Conway, of Kingston, amending the ABC law providing that submission of photographs on renewal of alcoholic beverage license permits be dispensed with if the applicant filed an affidavit stating there has been no alteration of the premises since the original license, has also received Senate approval. The Conway bill now goes to the governor for signature.

Assembly approval has been given to the Conway bill authorizing the refunding of bonds of the town of Shandaken, Ulster county, for a water system in the Phoenicia water district. The measure, sponsored also by Senator Wicks, now goes to the Senate.

Chamberlain to Match Hitler's Might Before Pledging Czechoslovakia Aid

Will Put Britain on War-Time Basis, Condemns Hitler's Annexation of Austria

London, March 15 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain was determined today to match the armed might of Adolf Hitler before publicly pledging Britain to support Czechoslovakia against German aggression.

There were indications that Britain privately had told Germany she might be compelled to act if Chancellor Hitler sought to bring the German minority in Czechoslovakia into the German nation, as without opposition he absorbed Austria.

Publicly, however, Chamberlain refrained yesterday in his address to the house of commons from any guarantees of aid to Czechoslovakia.

Nevertheless, the British ambassador, Sir Neville Henderson, said that Britain considered "binding" his friendly assurances to Czechoslovakia on Saturday morning in setting Chamberlain in Hitler's absence in London.

Masaryk's Intervention.

A similar communication went to Jan Masaryk, the Czech minister to London.

One assuring bit of information came from Richard Butler, parliamentary undersecretary for foreign affairs.

He told Parliament he had ascertained "the German army would be withdrawn after a certain period and when normalcy had been restored" in Austria, and that "we have received assurances every effort will be used to insure a sense of moderation in the treatment of Catholics, Jews and Socialists."

Addressing the House of Commons, Chamberlain did sharply reject Germany's contention that ## Legion Birthday Party Tonight at Port Ewen, 8 P. M.

Last minute preparations to complete the details for the entertainment of the Legionnaires, their families and friends, who will attend the big birthday party of Kingston Post American Legion this evening at Spinny's, Port Ewen, have been made.

Just 19 years ago today, the American Legion was founded in Paris, France. Today on the anniversary, Legionnaires will gather all over the world to commemorate the event.

The program includes entertainment features that will interest not only Legionnaires and their families, but friends of the Legion as well. Dancing to the tunes of Avalon Swing Band will start shortly after 8 p. m. At 9:30 o'clock Mrs. Dorothy Groves will open the program with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner. Commander Harry L. Kirschner will welcome the guests and introduce Past Commander Conrad J. Heiseleman who in turn will introduce the guest of the evening, Past National Commander Edward E. Spafford of New York.

Spafford will have a short message to convey to the guests and then will take place the ceremony of the cutting of the birthday cake. Instead of one birthday cake, there will be two. One is now on exhibition at Salford & Scudler on Wall street from the ovens of Schwenk's Bakery while the other is coming from the Central Bakery. The past commanders of the Post and past presidents of the Ladies' Auxiliary will assist in cutting the birthday cakes.

A gala New York floor show, under the personal direction of Alfred Skea, will go on at 10:30 o'clock.

The remainder of the evening will feature a typical Legion fun and frolic with dancing to the tunes of the Avalon Swing Band. A message at midnight from National Commander Daniel J. Doherty will come via radio.

Tickets are still available and may be secured at the door this evening. Proceeds will assist in defraying veterans' employment campaign now under way.

Japanese Says China's "Open Door" Will Remain So After Present Conflict

Shanghai, March 15 (AP)—Masayuki Tani, Japanese minister-late stationed in Shanghai, said today the "open door" in China would remain open after the present conflict was settled.

Tani said in an interview Japan would grant equal opportunity to the United States and other friendly powers to aid in the reconstruction of China as soon as possible.

"Major fighting is finished, we are in a transition period and soon reconstruction will begin," he said.

Americans, he said, were doing business as usual in Japanese-occupied North China and had no reason to be apprehensive in Central China.

Tani promised to investigate refusal of Japanese authorities to permit mission organizations to return to Yangtze valley stations, but said the refusal probably was because the mission premises were required temporarily to house troops.

The military situation on the Yellow river front remained confused, but Japanese army spokesmen no longer claimed that any Japanese troops were south of the river in their attack upon the Lunghai railway.

Japanese claimed the capture of the first Russian aviator since the conflict started.

Japanese announced successful night bombing raids on Chinese airbases at Hankow, Nanchang and Nanchang.

Survey Made for Repair of Streets

Major C. J. Heiseleman and the members of the Board of Public Works met at the city hall this morning and left on a tour of inspection of the city. The inspection is held to determine what street work shall be taken up by the board this spring and summer.

At the last meeting of the board Superintendent David P. Conway reported that many of the streets were in bad condition following the winter's ice and snow. No street work has been attempted yet as weather conditions did not permit.

Siemon, McGrath, Frederici Awards Upheld by Bergan

By a decision handed down by Justice Francis Bergan the awards made by Commander of Appraisal John F. Wallin, William W. Hoppen and Howard Boecher in the Charles W. Frederici, Thomas J. McGrath and George Siemon claims are confirmed as reported by the commissioner.

The claims came before Esopus Creek Section 1 Commission for hearing and arose out of the use of the Esopus creek between Shandaken tunnel outlet and the Asholun reservoir by the City of New York for conveying Gilboa reservoir water through Esopus creek to the Asholun.

The three awards which are confirmed by Supreme Court Justice Bergan were contained in the second separate report of the commissioners. Objection to confirmation of the awards to Frederici and McGrath was made on the ground of insufficiency and also on the grounds that the city had not submitted figures as to the damages in opposition to the figures submitted by claimants and the claimant held that in the absence of such figures as to the damages by the city the commissioners were bound to accept the value placed by claimants, as a basis for damages.

Justice Bergan holds that the absence of any specific figures as to damages to the parcels for trespass on the part of the city does not make the claimants' figures binding. He holds that the commissioners had the power to view

Nazis Take Over Austrian Legation

Washington, March 15 (AP)—Edgar Prochnik, Austrian minister to the United States, and members of his legation staff were under instructions from Berlin today to place themselves at the disposal of German Ambassador Hans Dieckhoff.

Their activities, the orders said, will be subordinated to those of the German embassy.

Dieckhoff delivered to Secretary Hull last night a note setting forth that policy and also formally notifying the state department that Austria had become a part of the German Reich.

The assumption here was that the Austrian legation and the Austrian consulates throughout the United States soon will be closed entirely, and that Minister Prochnik will retire.

"This would be my second liquidation," Prochnik told interviewers.

After the World War, he looked to it.

Prof. Voorhees of Bard Aids Ulster County Movement

Ulster county is to be the fond father of "The Nation's first county theatre," if plans now in the making come to a successful conclusion, according to an intimation in a letter written recently by Professor Voorhees of Bard College.

The letter was written by Professor Voorhees, who in 1929 delivered a course of lectures to the Monday Club, and was addressed to Howard Koch of the Ulster County Theatre Association. Professor Voorhees included a check with his communication, and wrote, in part, as follows:

"Ever since the year 1929—the peak of the Gilded Age No. 2—when the dear old Monday Club, and its associated members, of Kingston, listened so kindly and patiently to all six of my Monday lectures on The Modern Spirit in Contemporary Literature, I have had a deep affection for Kingston and a constant interest in its tenacious and evolving culture. When I occasionally renew acquaintances and visit friends there I have never failed to sense in its very streets a plexus of solid tradition, quiet vitality, and expansive good-will. In short, Kingston presents to me an atmosphere unique among the towns of the Hudson Valley.

"Yet I was not quite prepared for one of Kingston's more recent manifestations of unfolding culture. In 1933, when Harvey Fite and I, with a group of eight or 10 students, started the course, English 33: Dramatic Theory and Laboratory—and with it built the Bard Theatre—little did any of us suspect that four years later we should witness in this same theatre so thoroughly capable a production, acted with balance and quiet power by an all-Ulster county cast, of the thoroughly mature and really American play, 'Give Us This Day.'

"Because of our extra activities in the Emergency Fund drive to keep Bard College from closing in June, I did not open... the article about the integrated cultural purposes of the Ulster County Theatre Association until this relatively quiet Sunday morning. Having long been in hearty sympathy and agreement with the motivating theme of this article, I can join unreservedly those who answer with an emphatic yes to the question: 'Is not Concord more typical of the best in American life than either Broadway or Hollywood?'

"The small check which I enclose to help out in the building of the nation's first county theatre is a most inadequate measure of the interest which I have in your unique project. When our own pressing and immediate financial problem here is solved, I and possibly others shall be glad to do more. Meanwhile my heartiest good wishes for attainment in what you and your colleagues are doing."

In conjunction with the designation, General Motors has appointed Dewey H. Curtis, of Albany, as service manager in Kingston. Mr. Curtis has been in the employ of General Motors at its truck factory, Pontiac, Mich., over a period of several years. His training and experience will be of immeasurable assistance to commercial truck operators in this area.

His appointment is in line with an expansion policy announced by Mr. Miller and Mr. Feldman, who organized the business a year ago on March 2, Kingston Truck Sales and Service now ranks seventh among General Motors truck and trailer distributors in the eastern division, from the standpoint of sales of new and used trucks.

Manager of the sales department of the local firm is Morton "Doc" Low, pioneer of the truck industry in Ulster county.

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat, potatoes? No wonder you're constipated—due to lack of "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft, bulky mass in the bowels. It's this mass that helps your bowels move.

The common sense thing to do about it is to eat a natural laxative food. Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast will give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal-aid, vitamin B. Eat this crunchy toasted cereal every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! ## WHY THE QUEER LAWS?

It is getting to be a favorite indoor sport to dig up the queer laws that have at one time or another been written into most municipal codes and to have a good laugh at the expense of departed legislators and councilmen.

What a mine for sociological research! Perhaps a WPA project can go after it, and explain to us just what our forefathers were up to when it seemed necessary to legislate against such things as: Feeding razor blades to hogs; driving a goat cart past a church on Sunday "in ridiculous fashion"; wearing to church a false mustache which causes laughter; permitting lions to run wild on the streets; telling a girl under the chin with a feather duster.

All these activities were forbidden in one community or another. They sound like college initiation pranks or the bright ideas of practical jokers. Were they put on the law books because they were common practices, or were they aimed at solitary offenders who might have been cured by some simpler treatment? Perhaps we owe a vote of thanks to Hollywood and Eliza Maxwell for confining such cock-eyed hi-jinks to private parties and permitting the average citizen to behave as an adult should.

FRICITIONLESS ROADS

The public was somewhat shell-shocked by Senator Robert J.
 Bulkley's plan to spend $8,000-000,000 for a federal gridiron of modern highways, to be paid for by traffic tolls. But Miller Mc-Clintock, director of the Harvard University Bureau of Street Traffic Research, seems to think that is just trifling with the problem.
 He would scrap the whole 3,000-000 miles of American highways, which cost about $15,000,000,000, and build them anew with modern engineering throughout. What that would cost is anybody's guess. It might be $50,000,000-000.

It should be granted, however, that Mr. McClintock knows his traffic engineering, even if he seems a bit wild financially. He says the cause of our appalling traffic accidents and deaths is "friction," and the remedy is simply to eliminate the friction between streams of traffic. Traffic, he explains, develops four kinds of friction:

First, internal stream friction—the friction of cars going in the same direction at varying speeds;
 Second, inter-sectional friction, where two streams of traffic cross; Third, medial friction, where two opposing lanes of traffic scrape or get into head-on collisions, because the lanes are not separated properly; Fourth, marginal friction, caused by impediments at the edges of roads or streets, a flow of cars on to bad shoulders or against parked cars or fixed objects at the edges.

He would rebuild the country's streets and highways to eliminate all these. There would be safe speed lanes to prevent the intersectional friction, divided-way streets and roads to avoid medial friction, smooth boundary abutments to avoid the marginal friction, and overpasses and underpasses to avoid the inter-sectional friction. All these principles seem to be included in Senator Bulkley's plan, but it is intended only for rural highways.

FRANCE WHIRLS

It would take a Carlyle to describe adequately those dizzy changes of government in France.
 The dispatches from Paris read almost like bulletins from the original French Revolution.
 There have been 104 different cabinets, or changes of government, since the rise of the Third Republic in 1871, and 25 in the last ten years. They seem to come faster and faster, as if moving toward a climax.

Almost any other nation would have shaken itself to pieces long ago in such a process. Yet the marvelous French race—so democratic that it is always a welter of political parties, and it seems as if hardly any statesman can agree with any other—has a genius for coloring in big crises.
 Foreign danger can shake it into unity. Such unity may be expected now for at least a little while, in response to the German seizure of Austria, as Leon Blum returning to power in Paris.

France suffers from a plague of parties. Any government is necessarily an arbitrary grouping of minorities. Post-war Germany, in such a plight, went il-lustratively to pieces, and Hitler came in and mopped up all the parties.
 But France is not likely to have either a Hitler or a Lenin. Both extremes are represented in almost any French cabinet, but they are shaken together and from their average emerges at least a temporary sanity.

France, it may be assumed, will continue aiming and upholding the independence of Czechoslovakia against German Nazism. And France may still be operating her governmental merry-go-round when the seemingly steady governments of Stalin and Hitler have fallen. For just as there was "a marshal's baton" in the knapsack of every French corporal, so there seems to be a patriot and statesman in the breast of every French politician, capable of steadying down and carrying on in a crisis.

WHITE PATCHES OF SKIN

From time to time physicians come across cases of leucoderma (leuco—white and derma—the skin) in which white smooth patches of skin have completely lost the natural skin color. In those who are fair this is not so serious but in those with a dark skin and in colored people, the white skin stands out in a manner most embarrassing to the patient.

The distinguishing symptom of scleroderma or vitiligo as it is frequently called is that the pigment or natural coloring of the skin looks as if it has been drawn away from the white spot and had heaped itself in the edges.
 The white spot is very smooth to the touch.

The cause of vitiligo is unknown; that it may be due to some children's infectious ailment such as scarlet fever or measles is sometimes suggested as it never appears before the age of ten.

The spots are usually circular or oval, but may be irregular in shape and may appear anywhere on the skin except the palms of the hands and the soles of the feet.

I have never written about vitiligo before because skin specialists, not knowing the cause, have been unable to obtain results from treatment. Sir Malcolm Morris, the British skin authority, in his textbook states that leucoderma is likely due to some nervous disturbance as changes have been found in the nerves supplying the whitened patches of skin.

However what may mean a cure for this unusual skin ailment is suggested by Dr. Noah E. Aronstam, Detroit, in Medical World.
 Dr. Aronstam suggests that the adrenal glands situated one above each kidney may be at fault and that just as extracts of the thyroid, the pancreas, the pituitary and other glands are used to supply these juices in the body when needed, so in cases of vitiligo should extract of the adrenal glands be injected into the muscles—one injection daily for 10 days of an extract equal to 5 grammes of the adrenal cortex.
 The blood pressure should be watched as extract of the adrenal gland—adrenalin or epinephrine helps maintain or increase blood pressure. The injections must be reduced to three a week if the blood pressure is greatly increased.

Dr. Aronstam says that in his hands this method has helped a number of cases. I therefore pass the information to these patients who should consult their physicians about this hitherto incurable ailment.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

Chapter 49
 "It's You"

IT SEEMED to me that Christine was vastly relieved to find me working out a set of problems that were my own, not hers. It had been an astonishment to me, though none to her, that James Clyde had written a new will, this one without my help.

Time and tide had changed a lot of things; Mantusen was broken, and Rentongen was exiled, and James Clyde was no longer a gun-runner; and as I read his will I learned that I was Rajah Thorne of Balingong. I was trying to estimate what this meant.

Once I would have been sorry to learn that it meant anything at all; but now, as I thought of my Dyaks who had fought for me in the Tomarup, this was not so. For they had changed me in that black river. In some part, their successes would always be my successes, and their failures my failures; I would never be able to think of them as monkeys again. How they had fought the Malays, blind to the odds or fear of death, I could never forget what had happened, on a day when I had been too fever-blind to see it, when a handful of fanatic, deluded parangmen had carried their White Tuan to an unbelievable victory.

I wanted to talk to Christine about this, to tell her that I could no longer say to hell with the brown men; but she slept and slept. Only once, for a little while, she awoke to talk for a short interval.

She said, "If only I could forget it! All of it. All of it except some things that were very fine in you, and in James Clyde. But the terrible destroying of lives—and all wasted! All wasted, every one."
 "Not one. Not a single one!" I was not just seeking a way to ease her mind, this time; I believed it, every word. "From now on the whole struggle will be different than we thought. We'll have to fight wily, and for a long time, with weapons we don't even know about yet. But I'm not going to quit my Dyaks!"

"Just by pure accident, without any planning or credit, I happen to be one of the weapons. There's a myth now about a Tuan Darah.
 It's a name they made themselves, and it symbolizes nothing except what they themselves did. Without intelligent direction, or even any direction, for I was in a fever dream about it—in a fever dream.
 But they will answer that name, and rise to it; and they rise knowing that it is a name that means that they fight crazily, without fear. We can raise Sumantang with that name! I know that as well as if it were truly my own."
 "Paul," Christine said, "I think they have given you a great gift, in that."

Tied To Balingong

I FELT thick-tongued, incoherent.
 It came to me that I had seemed to be boasting when I knew I had not. I said, "I can't think of this as a gift. I think it still belongs to them. It's only that I'm responsible to them now."

She looked at me for a long time.
 And then at last she smiled—and went to sleep again.
 I went on with what I was trying to do. We lost sight of the Linkang, far ahead. We sighted her again, far behind. She passed us.
 And the days ran on.

As owner of all that had been Clyde's, I had to find out what his many debts were good for.
 Among them was the name of a fluent who would help me in what I must do. I had to find out I had to find out who had sym-pathized with and aided Anthony Forrester; if any of them were strong and secure, I must try to get their help. I had to organize the possibilities of Balingong as I saw them, in a form which I could present to such men as van der Dongen.

And most certainly I had to go to Saramba. Where was Mantusen? I doubted that he was still alive. How official, as representing Saramba, was Rentongen? There had to be a showdown, that was sure. Who had greatest voice in the British Asiatic squadron?

 What warships could the Netherlands Trading Society command?
 I had to have facts like these before I could even decide in what order I must try the many possible moves that were open to me.

My assets were the Linkang, and what debts to her might be collected; and a bit of parchment drumhead, which declared that I
 —by Clyde's assignment—was Rajah of Balingong.

I could not yet know how much must happen before the fact would fit the name. Only the object of my labor stood out clear and clean—some day I would free my Dyaks, if I lived. Once more I was tied to Balingong—and this time I knew that I was glad.

Only—somehow I could not make the dream live. I believed in it, saw its splendid opportunity; some part of me was inseparable from it. But in my weariness—and I was truly tired—none of it would come alive. And this bothered me for many days.

Then one hot, becalmed morning I found out what the trouble was. Christine was awake again, combing her lovely soft hair with the help of a little mirror which hung upon the stanchion where once I had seen a mass of orchids sway. I had been talking a good deal, racing over plans, asking her for names. For my judgment I truly valued.

She was the only woman I ever knew who recognized what most men and all seamen instinctively know—that all things are always in flux and change. The belief in the permanence of present status, whether in ethics or in rank—women live by that; but not Christine.

"I Love You"

MY DESCRIPTION of ambitious plans ran itself out, and finished lamely. She was very quiet, and I was tired again. I felt becalmed, like the Avon.
 Then suddenly I knew what was wrong with me, and with all my plans. I threw my pencil into the sea.

"First of all," I said, "I think we need to go home."

"We need—what?"
 "We've been in brown islands too long. We have to go home, or a while. See white people—lots of 'em. Eat things we used to eat.
 Get the fever out of us, and get our perspective back. Then all this will come clear."

"Home?" Christine faltered.
 "England or America—it's all the same to me."

"Her eyes were free of sleep for the first time since we had cleared Balingong pass, and now we look at each other clearly."

I said, "You weren't in love with Clyde, I nearly broke your heart that you couldn't be, because you hated to hurt him. You admired him and respected him—you thought he was truly great. But you were not in love with him."

"How long have you known that?"
 "Since I came back from the Tomarup, I guess. Isn't it true?"

"I've never loved anybody but you. Though I didn't know it for a while. I even thought I disliked you. Until I tried to go away; and then I knew I couldn't ever leave you when you needed me—whether you wanted me or not."

"And you've known that I loved you—you've known that I loved you—since I came back from the Tomarup?"

"Then, why don't we say so?"
 "I've been wondering that for quite some time."

I took a deep breath, and a lot of the tautness went out of me, so that I could grin, and stretch, and relax. I said, "I'm half way home already. Home to me is two things.
 It's snow on the roofs; and it's
 you."

She came across to me, behind my chair, and laid her cheek against my forehead, so that her loose hair blinded my eyes.
 "To me it's only one thing. It's you."

By JUNIUS

What this country needs is more people like the north woods hunters. They open their traps once a year.

Judge—The sentence is 20 years of hard work in the penitentiary.

Prisoner (in tears)—Judge, I will not live that long!

Judge (kindly)—Never mind, just do what you can.

To be really sensational these days all a politician has to do is to talk common sense.

Jerry—And has Helen made him a good wife?

Edith—I don't know about that. But she's making him a good husband.

Some of us will remember this bit of doggerel:

The man who tells malicious lies is bad enough forsooth;

But far more maddening is the cuss

Who tells malicious truth.

Some men are born great, some achieve greatness and others put up a very successful bluff.

READ IT OR NOT—

The young mountains are the roughest. As time passes, erosion softens their outline.

Many a church will thrive when it eliminates gossip as an indoor sport.

He—But, darling, don't you want to marry a man who is economical?

She—Oh, I suppose so; but it's not much fun being engaged to one.

Teacher—Junior, spell straight Junior—S-T-R-A-I-G-H-T.

Teacher—That's right. Now, what does it mean?

Junior—Without soda.

It seems I have just naturally craved to be bamboozled. You go any place, like a circus or a fair where some nimble stranger has three shells and one pea, and there is a crowd around him. And we bet the gentleman, we know which shell the pea is under—and we go home without our shirt.

But if a fellow you know, and have seen before, if he has a bank, and he asks folks to put their money there for safe keeping and interest, it is not exciting enough.

And a person with some common sense idea about business, he won't get to first base with his ideas. He won't even get up to bat. He is an old fogey, and we don't want him around.

But if some duck comes along with something cracked, but new, and he says, boys, I have here what the country needs, we give him three cheers. And the gent pulls out a vat—a new elixir—that will cure everything.

So he shakes up his bottle and announces us, and lo and behold—the same old medicine—and we money home again, half naked. Yes, we are all suckers most of the time.

There are men who are so busy that they have no time to do right. Such industry is not a credit to anyone.

Wife (in men's store)—I'd like to see some shirts for my husband. Soft ones, please. The doctor has forbidden anything starched.

Neighbor—Where's your brother, Freddie?

Freddie—He's in the house playing a piano duet. I finished my part first.

Love your enemies for they tell you your faults.

Things you are going to do add nothing to your bank account.

At The Theatres

Broadway: "The Goldwyn Follies." The year's most enjoyable musical comedy endeavor comes to the Broadway with the stamp of the producer written in to the title which means that Mr. Goldwyn has outdone himself to make this show a noteworthy achievement. And it is just that for it possesses lavish beauty, swell songs, riotous comedy moments plus the added advantage of Technicolor. "The Fitz Brothers," in their most important roles, contribute much harum-scarum glee to the proceedings and others in the star studded cast include Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Adolphe Menjou, Andrea Leeds, Zorana and the Goldwyn chorus girls. A novel story is attached to the play's action and Kenny Baker sings the hero's role enjoyably. Young and old will find this film much to their liking for it has all the essentials to make it top flight entertainment.

Kingsport: "The Black Doll" and "Action for Slander." A murder mystery that brings death with a cheerful abandon and a British made film that has to do with law courts and legality constitute the double features at the Kingsport. The first offers Donald Woods, C. Henry Gordon and Nan Grey in the principal roles while the other features stars Clive Brook and Ann Todd in a featured part.

Orpheum: "Dance, Charlie, Dance" and "The Girl from Scotland Yard." Jean Muir, Stuart Erwin, Allen Jenkins, Glenda Farrell and Jack MacDonald are featured in the musical comedy attraction that makes up the first part of the double feature bill while Karen Morley and Bob Baldwin are co-starred in the second offering, a mystery tale that centers around the activities of the English secret police.

Tomorrow: "Of Human Hearts." The title of this picture brought a Carolina boy $5000 in a nationwide Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer contest and the picture itself is a robust and heart warming story of the Civil War and of a boy who forsakes his parents only to realize the depth of parental love. Abraham Lincoln and other historical figures of that day parade their way through America's destiny and the cast stars Walter Huston and features James Stewart and John Carradine. The battle sequences are done with effectiveness, there is a tender love story that is played with skill by Mr. Stewart and the entire production is well worth seeing both from a historical as well as an entertainment standpoint.

Kingsport: "No Time To Marry" and "Partners of the Plains." Double features continue at the uptown theatre with Mary Astor starred in the opening offering, a dramatic romance of a working girl who has little time for love. "Partners of the Plains" is the associate attraction with William Boyd again in his favorite role of a hard riding, fast shooting cowboy who straightens up several evils during the course of the play's action.

Orpheum: "Submarine D-1." The submarine service of the United States navy is displayed with much vigor in this story of men who are trained in under sea fighting. The plot revolves around a cocky recruit whose laxity causes a sub commander much grief and it also concerns a man's invention that will rescue a crew trapped in a submarine on the ocean floor. The lighting strength of the navy goes through man-

Diving Champion Learns to Walk Again

Paralyzed by an illness last fall, Georgia Coleman, former Olympic diving champion, is shown at her home in Los Angeles, Calif., as she tried learning how to walk all over again. "At the rate I'm improving," she said, "I'll be back at work again by June."

euvers during the filming of this production and the mock war staged in the Pacific is both exciting and spectacular. The cast features Wayne Morris, Pat O'Brien and George Brent.

HOME BUREAU

Flatbush
The members of the Flatbush Home Bureau unit will meet at the home of Mrs. Fred Kukuk on Thursday, March 17 at 10 a. m., to receive the third lesson in "Grooming." In the afternoon Mrs. Edgar Clark, of Milton, will give the fourth lesson on "Understanding Each Other."

The late penalties increase from five per cent to 25 per cent, depending on the length of the delinquency, and interest for late payments is charged from March 15.

Chamberlain to Match Hitler

Britain had no right to interest herself in Austrian independence and autonomy.

"His Majesty's government are most anxious to be interested in developments in central Europe."

"Severe Condemnation"

He voiced "severe condemnation" of Germany's step in Austria and denounced his program to put Britain on a wartime footing.

Today he was busy endeavoring to win opposition parties to support tremendous defenses, which eventually might even include compulsory military service for all capable of fighting.

Home secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare, appealed last night for a million volunteer workers to aid England's air raid precaution program, asserting that "the more disturbed is continental Europe, the more urgent it is for us to make every possible precaution."

There were reports Herr Goering was attempting to make a deal with the Czech government whereby Germany peacefully would become protector of the Czech Germans, and guard all Czechoslovakia from "Bolshevism."

Chamberlain frankly acknowledged to Parliament yesterday that German-Austrian union had crippled his policy of trying to deal with dictators through peaceful negotiations.

Modern Lighting Shown To Clinton Avenue Men

At the regular monthly meeting of the Clinton Avenue Men's Club at Epworth Hall last night talking pictures by means of a Visomatic projector were shown to demonstrate the effects of modern highway illumination.

The General Electric Company produced the pictures, which were used through the courtesy of the local office of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, were projected by A. W. Staff of that office and a member of the Men's Club.

By comparisons of the number of accidents occurring during the day and at night and comparisons of proper and poor illumination of highways the safety features of modern illumination were well demonstrated. All the members of the club were highly pleased with this educational film.

Nominations for the various offices for the coming year were made and a formal election will be held at the April meeting. Many plans were made to provide additional recreation equipment, improve the appearance of the hall, and to further the needs of the club's various activities, including its recent minstrel show, will be given largely to these worthy causes.

After the business session and entertainment the club members were served delicious clam chowder prepared by the "Mother of the Club", Art Fatum.

Each meeting finds new faces in attendance and greater enthusiasm in all the club's activities. William Staff, president of the club, deserves much credit for his splendid leadership during his first year. "Bill" is the club's youngest president.

Big Crowd Attends Radio Amateur Hour

The lodge room of Kingston Lodge No. 10 was packed to capacity, so that the firemen had to call a halt on further admissions, for the radio amateur hour given by the Craftsmen's Club of the lodge Monday night.

Some 15 acts were given and during the intermissions there was a big demand for ice cream and cake. The big crowd was pleased with the fine performance given and most pleased of all was Paul Zucca, who managed the affair for the club.

Three Act Comedy

The Chi Delta Class of Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will present on Wednesday evening, March 16, at 8 p. m. in Epworth Hall, a three act comedy called "Grandma Goes Hollywood." Under the personal direction of Ray Parsells, Sr. Cast includes George Philpitts, Ray Parsells, Jr.; Emma Philpitts, Justine Rowe; Phillis Philpitts, Ruth Smith; Gran, Anne Relyea; Bradford Jones, Chester Weeks; Mrs. Jones, Juanita Watrous; Jasmine, Frances Gruenwald; Janet Lovelee, Helen Schoonmaker; Randy Knowles, Lauren Every; Alexis Sharpthorn, Donald Weeks; Lily Browne, Evelyn Thompson.

Proclaims Austria Part of Germany

er and chancellor of the great German nation I declare to history the entrance of my native land into the German Reich.

Hitler spoke from the spot which Engelbert Dollfuss and Kurt Schuschnigg often spoke in exhortation to the Austrians to cling to their independence.

He spoke with sight of the Chancellery at Ballhausplatz where Dollfuss, trying to save his Austrian countrymen from Hitler, was assassinated in 1934.

But when these Austrian countrymen today heard Hitler they cheered him as a redeemer.

Hitler referred to neither Dollfuss nor the recently ousted Schuschnigg by name, but spoke of the previous regime as one whose object was "to prevent the formation of a great German people and thus was a barrier to the path of the German people into the future."

Decisive Hour

The decisive hour which greeted this assertion could be heard half a mile away in Belvedere Palace, where Schuschnigg was held captive by the new masters of his country.

As Hitler told his 7,000,000 new Austrian subjects to meet their new responsibilities, his officials expunged the Austrian National Government.

After Foreign Minister Wilhelm Wolf relinquished the Austrian foreign office to German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop the Austrian treasury was absorbed into the German treasury.

The interior ministry, war department and other parts of the Austrian Government were all turned over to German officials.

No Resignations Reported

As far as was known no officer resigned rather than break his oath of loyalty to Schuschnigg's regime.

Henceforth the franchise is given persons who have reached the age of 20 and who are Austrian citizens or who "despite disenfranchisement are not forbidden to vote."

This means restoration of vol-

Ing rights to those Nazis deprived of citizenship during the Schuschnigg regime.

The Fuehrer said: "In the last few days have occurred events which cannot be evaluated yet—a unification of the German nation."

"I know this new portion of the German Reich will meet its responsibility as the old nation has."

Greets War Veterans

At the conclusion of a surprisingly short speech, Hitler walked down the stairs of the Heroes Monument from which he greeted war veterans, some of whom were brought to the base of the story-high memorial in wheelchairs.

While Hitler spoke European maps were displayed showing Germany and Austria as one nation in dark red. Czechoslovakia was shown with a broken line. Crowds looking at the maps in store windows cheered his unofficial prediction involving the German-Austrian neighbor of Czechoslovakia.

How many Jews and political enemies of the Nazis had been arrested and otherwise disposed of was impossible to estimate.

One newspaper, Der Weimer Tag, did not appear today. It had favored Schuschnigg's policy of independence and friendship with Czechoslovakia.

Schuschnigg himself remained under arrest at his palace apartment. The resigned President Miklas was confined to his home.
